The Problem

What pain exists today, and why does it matter enough that someone would pay to make it go away?

WHY IT MATTERS NOW

- Calgary added 28,900 tech jobs (2022–25) vs. 3,660 local tech grads
- Thousands of builders are new to the city, with no local network
- On YC's matching platform, committed hours is the #1 thing founders look for
- Skills are public. Capacity and follow-through aren't.

The pain

Outside weekend events, Calgary builders work in silos. A founder with an idea and a deadline can't tell which local builder has hours this month, or who will actually ship, so projects stall or die within weeks.

How it's solved today

LinkedIn DMs, Slack "anyone free?" posts, meetups, or asking the same 2–3 friends. Most default to building alone.

Cost of the problem

Weeks of searching, dozens of unpaid hours lost to ghosted collabs. Room data: __ of __ builders say their last team dissolved.

Ideal Customer Profile (ICP)

Exactly who is the first customer, and why them first? Narrow beats broad.

WHY THIS SEGMENT FIRST

- Sharpest pain: no builder means no product
- Hard deadlines (demo day, MVP) create urgency
- Concentrated: one program partner reaches a whole cohort
- A program operator can pay on their behalf

Who they are

1) Organization like Platform Calgary, Tech Hub -> To build network and credit
2) Founder with concrete idea and budget to spend

d

Their trigger

Progress Frustration - A milestone hits: MVP deadline, demo day, buildathon signup, or a grant asking “who’s on your team?”

Where to find them

Platform Calgary programs, accelerator cohorts, buildathons like this one - AI Tinkerers, Business Clubs - university, schools, mentors, influencers

Buyer vs. user

User: the founder. Platform to connect for funding

Buyer: the program operator (cohort licence). Builders join free as supply.

The Solution

What did you build, and what is the single most valuable thing it does for the customer?

HOW IT MAPS TO THE PAIN

- Can’t see who has time → live capacity
- Can’t trust strangers → verified shipped work
- Teams die after events → 2-week committed sprints
- Not LinkedIn: matches on what you can commit this month

Value proposition

For Calgary founders who need a builder now, BizBazooka connects founders to proven experts to make a viable product faster and efficiently. Unlike LinkedIn, it shows who can commit this month, not what they claim. We provide a legal framework so founder and builder needs to join the project. Founder can provide either monetary or equity compensation

Capacity matching

Post a need; get ranked local builders with free /paid hours and fit reasons.

Committed sprints

One-click request turns a match into a 2-week sprint with clear hours.

Follow-through ledger

Teammates co-sign what shipped, building trust that compounds.

Market Opportunity

How big is the prize, and how did you size it? Show your math, not just a big number.

HOW WE SIZED IT

- Bottom-up: builders × price, plus orgs × licence
- TAM = Canada, SAM = Alberta, SOM = 3-yr Alberta capture
- ~90% of SOM is B2B, not consumer subs
- RBC survey : 59% of Canadians are interested in starting business

TAM

~$1.2B

Total addressable market ARR

SAM

~$22M

Serviceable market in Alberta ARR

SOM

~$0.425M

Annual

How we sized it + why now

42M is Canada, 20% with Biz Aspirations -~ 8.4M people - 1.2B$ in Target
SAM - Alberta 5.1M$ 20% biz and 15% tech - 153K people SAM @$144 is 22M$
2% interested in paying, 3,000 paid founders ~ 42K$/yr.

Competition & Differentiation

Who else solves this, and why would a customer choose you over them?

WHERE WE LOSE (TODAY)

- LinkedIn has everyone → we have vetted, trusted members
- Cold DMs get ghosted → signed sprint agreements get commitment
- Profiles are self-reported → co-signed, real shipped work
- "Ask a friend" is free → we're the friend-of-a-friend network

	CrewYYC	LinkedIn	Slack / events	Do nothing
Local & trusted	✓	Partial	✓	✓
Free this month	✓	✗	✗	Partial
Proven shipping	Building	Partial	Partial	✓
Flexible Payment option

Our unfair advantage

A trusted network of vetted Calgary builders, each with real, co-signed project experience. Matches start with a clear legal agreement on hours, IP and equity, so you work with people who commit instead of cold-messaging strangers on LinkedIn.

MVP Demo

Show what actually works right now. Judges would rather see one real flow than ten mockups.

THE 60-SECOND FLOW

- Post a need: React Native + Stripe, 8 hrs/wk, 6 wks
- See 3 ranked matches with hours and fit reasons
- Aha: the “perfect” profile is greyed out, zero hours until Dec
- One click sends the request to her inbox

LIVE DEMO
Post need → ranked matches → send request

What's real

Skills + capacity ranking, fit reasons, decoy card, request flow

What's next

Mocked: auth, notifications, inbox delivery, co-sign ledger

Business Model

How does this make money, who pays, and do the unit economics work?

WHY B2B FIRST

- Builders rarely pay for networking tools
- A successful match is a reason to cancel B2C
- Programs already budget for team formation
- Placement fees come later, once supply is dense

Revenue model

Free to join. Phase 1: VCs, founders and accelerators pay for access and licences. Phase 2: We vetted builders pay a cut of contracts.

Pricing

$144/year - App access for founder

$750 annual –2K per program; - Accelerator organizations

Unit economics

Est. CAC ~$2K (founder-led), LTV ~$20K, gross margin ~85%.

Key assumptions

Orgs pay from budget; builders keep capacity current; model travels beyond Calgary.

Go-To-Market Plan

How will you reach your ICP and win the first 100 customers?

THE WEDGE

- Launch inside events, keep teams matched after
- Organizers get value on day one
- Each event seeds 30–150 profiles at once
- North star: accepted intros that lead to a 2nd meeting

First 10

In-room at BUILDYYC today: onboard builders, make live skill-gap intros. Target: 10 profiles, 3 accepted intros by demo.

First 100

Team-formation tool for Product Calgary + Platform Calgary events, free meetup kit, UCalgary/MRU/SAIT hackathons. Proof: ≥40% attendee activation.

Scale

Self-serve event mode, referral loop, weekly “who’s free” digest, then Edmonton. Proof: ≥25% second match within 30 days.

Roadmap & The Ask

What happens after today, and what do you need to get there?

Next 30 days

20 founder interviews; 10-builder pilot; run matching at 1 Product Calgary event

Next 90 days

Ship capacity check-in + co-sign ledger; 300 profiles; 2 paid program pilots

6 to 12 months

5–10 program licences; 1,000 Calgary builders; Edmonton launch

THE ASK

A pilot with Platform Calgary or Product Calgary at your next event, intros to two accelerator program leads, and 10 builders in this room to join this week's pilot.
